1. ARTICLE I. INTRODUCTION AND SCOPE OF WORK

1.1. INTRODUCTION

The Alamo is seeking the services of a historic preservation expert as it relates to the design and construction of a new museum for one of the most important historical sites in the world – The Alamo.

Eighty years ago, Col. William Barret Travis’ famous “Victory or Death” letter written during the 1836 siege of the Alamo stirred the hearts of a nation. “To the People of Texas and all Americans in the World,” Travis wrote, “I am besieged... I have sustained a continual bombardment and cannonade... I shall never surrender or retreat... I call on you in the name of Liberty, of patriotism and everything dear to the American character, to come to our aid, with all dispatch... VICTORY OR DEATH.”

While facing indescribable odds and almost certain death, Travis’ tenacity galvanized his men and showed the world the true meaning of sacrifice. The heroic story of the Alamo defenders and their defiance against tyranny echoes through the centuries, inspiring reverence, and awe. Symbolic of the universal struggle for freedom, “The Shrine of Texas Liberty” stands as a testament the world over to the indefatigable human spirit.

First constructed in 1718 along the banks of San Pedro Creek, the Mission San Antonio de Valero, now known as the Alamo was moved to its current location on the San Antonio River in 1724. Eventually, the Alamo became part of five Spanish Missions in San Antonio known today as some of the finest examples of Spanish Colonial Architecture in the New World. In fact, these missions are so spectacular that in 2015 all five were recognized as a World Heritage Site.

For much of the first 118 years of its existence, the Alamo served as a Catholic mission, reaching out for the church and the nation of Spain to the indigenous people of south central Texas. Late in that period, part of the four-acre Alamo compound was secularized and became a military garrison used by the armies of Spain and Mexico.

By the time the year 1836 saw the first light in San Antonio, the Alamo compound had been battered by hard use and the harsh south Texas weather. In the spring of that year the compound became occupied by revolutionary Texian forces and fortified in an effort to stop the advancement of a large contingent of the Mexican Army led by Presidente General Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna.

Today, the heart-wrenching story of the seminal battle that followed and the mission / garrison where it all happened draws 1.5 million visitors from around the world each year. Unfortunately, they are often disappointed... visitors note the carnival-like atmosphere, lack of cohesive narrative, confusing physical layout and lack of gravitas are overwhelming. Even worse, there is nothing to show the respect and honor due to the men who gave their lives for Texas and all she stood for.

Just as important, there is no connection made at the Alamo today to its history prior to the battle in 1836, its connection to the other four Spanish missions, its connection to the San Antonio River, its connection to Spain and Mexico, its connection to the church or the indigenous people or the fact that it is the emotional, spiritual and economic foundation upon which the City of San Antonio was built.

That is all about to change. A new day is dawning for the Alamo.

In early 2014 the City of San Antonio began a process to revitalize and revision the city-owned Alamo Plaza. Local leadership and a Citizens Advisory Committee that represented all regions of the city and key stakeholder groups created a Vision and Guiding Principles that gave new hope for improving the visitor experience for future generations (see Exhibit B.)

In the spring of 2015 Texas Land Commissioner, George P. Bush, appointed a private endowment board to oversee and manage the Alamo as well as supervise its re-planning, re-imagining and creative redesign.

Previous plans to revitalize the Alamo were often scuttled by a lack of governmental and private coordination and the lack of adequate and sustainable funding sources. The cooperation problems are now solved. The City of San Antonio, the State of Texas and Alamo Endowment have come together to form the Alamo Master Plan Management Committee which first oversaw a Master Plan. In addition, the lack of financial commitment has been addressed when the State allocated an initial $100 million, the City allocating $38 million and the private endowment committing to raise several hundred million dollars from the private sector.

The Master Plan was completed and was developed and led by Dr. George C. Skarmeas, Partner at Preservation Design Partnership. The next step was to develop a Comprehensive Interpretive Plan for the project. This team is led by PGAV Destinations (St. Louis, MO) and includes Cultural Innovations (London) and Reed-Hilderbrand (Cambridge, MA). Development began in November of 2017, and efforts are on track to be complete by the fall of 2018.

With the initial planning nearing completion, we are ready to take the next step – identifying and hiring a comprehensive design team for one of the largest components of the project – the new museum building. The team selected must share the committee’s desire to develop a museum on par with the world’s best, and an understanding of the existing buildings on the proposed site is crucial to these upcoming design efforts.

Those engaged in the Alamo Master Plan are fascinated by and totally committed to the Alamo. We hope that when you finish reading this solicitation you will be excited as we are about this wonderful opportunity.

REMEMBER THE ALAMO!
1.2. SCOPE OF SERVICES REQUESTED

1.2.1. Summary

The Alamo seeks a qualified architectural historian to expertly assess and report on the significance or otherwise of the surviving contributing buildings within the area of interest for the Alamo project – namely the Crockett Building, Palace Building and Woolworth Building (see Exhibit A for general location.) Since the site of the future Alamo Museum is contiguous to these buildings, the research and assessment provided within this scope of services will directly inform and guide the design of the Alamo Museum being undertaken by a separate design team. Upon completion, the museum will work together with the re-planned site in order to instantly engage, inspire, and educate visitors all while reinvigorating the city which emerged around the Alamo.

1.2.2. Current Understanding

Based on a search of the Texas Historical Commission’s Atlas, the Alamo has the following National historical designations:

- Alamo Church: National Historic Landmark (1960)
- Alamo Plaza Historic District: National Register of Historic Places (1977)

It is understood that at State level, the Alamo church is a Recorded Texas Historic Landmark. Although this designation is not listed on the THC’s Atlas, its program brochure lists the Alamo as having attained this designation in 1962. It is also understood that some other buildings on site have THC Historical Markers. NHL and RTHL designations encompass the church only, while the NRHP designation defines a wider site as the Alamo Plaza Historic District and includes buildings within the area of interest along Alamo Street, between E. Crockett and Houston.

In particular, the designation outlines one (1) contributing and significant building, three (3) contributing buildings, and two (2) compatible buildings, as follows:

- Contributing and significant building
  - Crockett Block, 317-323 Alamo Plaza
- Contributing buildings
  - 309-315 Alamo Plaza – no longer exists
  - 327 Alamo Plaza – an early 20th century building that replaced the Old Palace Theatre
  - Woolworth’s Department Store, 518 East Houston
- Compatible buildings
  - 301-305 Alamo Plaza – now known as Louis Tussaud’s Waxworks Museum
  - 307 Alamo Plaza – now known as Ripley’s Believe It Or Not Odditorium

The understanding of these buildings has been informed by this NRHP designation for the Alamo Plaza Historic District. However, as this designation was made in 1977, a concern exists that some of its information may be out of date. In addition, because the designation describes a district rather than a group of buildings, individual buildings are not assessed in detail.

1.2.3. Scope of Services

A qualified architectural historian and/or firm is required to expertly assess and report on the significance or otherwise of the surviving contributing buildings within our area of interest.
Compatible but non-contributing buildings are excluded.

The initial tasks of this research are:
- To describe and assess each of these buildings individually against NRHP description and significance criteria, considering both their interior and exterior, as well as their context and integrity.
- To describe if and how each building contributes to the three periods of significance noted in the NRHP designation. How significant that contribution is at a world, national, state and local level should be considered in each case.
- To provide analysis of the respective relevance of each of the Four Approaches to the Treatment of Historic Buildings – as outlined in the Secretary of the Interior’s Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties.

Of particular interest is an expert analysis of these buildings’ integrity – both exterior and interior. However, this assessment should follow the vocabulary and framework for assessing significance set out in the U.S. Department of the Interior and National Park Service’s Guidelines for Completing National Register of Historic Places Forms, specifically Chapter 7. Description and Chapter 8. Statement of Significance.

This Solicitation is specific to the role of the architectural historic preservation expert. Only research, analysis and assessment is included in the scope of services within this RFQ. A separate and concurrent solicitation exists for a Museum Design firm and Architect of Record to lead design of the future Museum Building. Likewise, specialty areas of exhibit and experience design and site design will remain within the scope of the current Interpretive Plan team and therefore are not included in this RFQ.

This Solicitation is issued by the Alamo. The Alamo will oversee the Museum Building Crockett Block Historic Assessment RFQ and future RFP process as required.

1.3. Contract and Term

The Alamo intends to award one contract for the services requested under this Solicitation. The contract will be between the Alamo and the Provider.

Any contract resulting from this Solicitation shall be effective as of the date executed by the last party until a date to be determined. The Alamo, at its own discretion, may extend any contract awarded pursuant to this Solicitation, subject to terms and conditions mutually agreeable to both parties.

1.4. No Guarantee of Volume or Usage

The Alamo makes no guarantee of volume or usage under any contract resulting from this Solicitation.

• Unified leadership under the management of a single steward (public and private) with a sustainable business model.
• Preservation and interpretation based on historical and archaeological evidence.
• Embrace intellectual, experiential and physical accessibility.
• Balance scholarship, historical context, folklore and myth to provide an engaging visitor experience.
• Create a premier Visitor Experience through physical space and interpretation.
• Embrace the continuum of history to foster understanding and healing.
• Enhance connectivity and wayfinding to the river, neighborhoods, La Villita, the cathedral, and the other Plazas.

Themes and Goals

The Alamo Plaza Advisory Committee has reviewed and updated the 1994 Alamo Plaza Study Committee’s Report and recommends the following updates to the 1994 themes and goals for the Alamo area experience. The themes are based on the research that has been conducted as well as the recommended Vision and Guiding Principles for the Alamo area experience.

Each of the four (4) themes is followed by Primary and Secondary goals that will be included in the overall program planning for the plaza.

Primary (Impact)

a) Include a document that gives the background information on the more than 300 years of history of the Alamo Plaza site.

b) Create a glossary of terms for common reference.
c) Create a unified foundation or organization for the management of the public (city, state, federal) and private interests of the Alamo area experience.
d) Develop a Master Plan and an Interpretive Plan.
e) Develop Physical, Interpretive, Implementation, and Management and Investment Plans as part of the Alamo area experience Master Plan. Update scholarship and technology regularly through the Interpretive Plan every five (5) years.
f) Develop and implement an integrated and coordinated way finding, interpretive, and directional signage plan for the Alamo area experience and the Alamo Plaza Historic District. Interpret the Alamo so visitors understand its location on the battlefield.
g) Include strict guidelines in the Interpretive Plan for appropriate experiences as part of the overall Alamo area experience; address street preachers, food and other vendors, street performers, living history interpreters and special events to ensure high quality visitor experiences.
h) Develop and implement a comprehensive transportation, circulation, and parking plan to accommodate accessibility while exerting minimal negative impact on the visitor experience in the Alamo area.
i) Provide an exceptional visitor experience while considering all points of view and a comprehensive interpretation of the Alamo area.
j) Consider the World Heritage Site nomination and designation. Be sure the Alamo area experience Master Plan recommendations do not jeopardize the process and potential designation.

Secondary (Long-term Strategy)

a) Make sure infrastructure and way finding plans are inclusive of all types of visitors, and are broadly accessible and flexible.
b) Develop a strategy to orient visitors to the stories and context before they experience the Alamo compound. Provide information and services to facilitate the visitor experience.
c) Creatively separate commercial areas from battleground areas through visual cues and interpretation.

THEME A: The evolution of settlements and cultures around the Alamo area

Goal 1. Tell the story of the environment and the Native Americans

a) San Antonio is located just below an escarpment that cuts across the state and joins a semi-arid region to the southwest and a fertile plain to the east. The area was a meeting and gathering place as well as home to different groups of Native Americans.
b) Native American groups of the area:
   • Remains have been found that date Native Americans in this area to 8,000-10,000 years ago
   • Nomadic and followed seasonal food sources, were hunters and gatherers of food, not farmers

Goal 2. Tell the story of the Spanish influence and settlement, including the three types of towns: Missionary and Indian Towns / Pueblos, the Soldier / Settler Town, and the Civilian Town

a) The introduction of the horse by the Spanish led to the culture of the vaquero and the cowboy. The area of San Antonio was settled to protect New Spain against French encroachment from Louisiana. Spanish Texas would always serve as a defensive frontier on the edge of the Empire. Once the Crown-sponsored establishments were founded, settlers began to pursue their own goals and objectives rather than those of the Empire.

Spain established Indian missions that became Missionary and Indian Towns / Pueblos as a means of expanding the Empire. These towns / pueblos had an appointed Native American government that included Governor, Mayor, Constable etc. This was conferred by the Auto de Posesión. The primary goal of the Spanish missionaries was the conversion of the Native Americans. To survive and expand, mission dwellers developed farms and ranches on the frontier.

Residents of the Soldier-Settler Towns (called presidios or military garrisons) often relied more on the local economic base, farming and grazing, rather than on their military pay.

The settlers in the Civilian Town of San Fernando de Béjar immigrated to Texas under the sponsorship of Spain. They originally relied heavily on the rights conferred to them by the Spanish Crown, but in time they too searched for security and economic improvements over imperial Spain’s objectives.
